Davenport Club.

There was an immense audience at Robinson's Opera-house last evening to witness the performance of "Frou-Frou" by the Davenport Club. The play is one of the modern emotional French school, seemingly imitated from "East Lynne," and, like the latter play, turning upon the seduction and elopement of a wife, who only returns to her husband's home to die.

husband's nome to die.

The moral of such pieces is very questionable, and a club like the Davenport would piease the taste and desire of its addiences by remitting them exclusively to the professional stage. Besides, the intensely emotional portions of the play were at best but fairly done, and the drama dragged a good deal. It certainly can not be put down as one of the Club's successes. The character of "Gilberte" was rendered in very good style by Mrs. Mendel, her dressing being simply magnificent.

GOOD-BY, GEORGE.

A Tribute to the Ex-Mayor.

That sounds rather odd-Ex-Mayor Jonuston! For four years His Honor has held the responsible position of Chief Magistrate of a great city, and to-day he is no more than a private citizen. He leaves the office with more personat friends than any man who ever held it, and his two administrations will go down to history as the most remarkable of any up to the present time.

We give place below to a slight testimonial from a correspondent, who seems to have known the best side of our (once) "ubiquitous Mayor:"

CINCINNATI, April 13. To the Editor of the Star:

When Mayor G. W. C. Johnston vesterday afternoon administered the oath of office to Col. R. M. Moore, a remarkable man retired from public to private life. För four years Mr. Johnston presided over the destinies of the city of Cincinnati, and that he successfully performed the arduous duties devoiving upon him can not be gainsaid. He was the Mayor of the president the resident of the president in the president of the pr the Mayor of the people, untiring in giving attention to all matters brought before him, and always prompt to act. He could always be found when wanted, and when found was always ready to act. He was a Mayor of whom the Queen City of the West may well feel proud.

BOAT-HANDS' GOSSIF.

The little steam tug, Minmi, which belongs at Memphis, was burned to the water's edge, yesterday, at the mouth of Woif River, and sunk in deep water. She was valued at $1,000.

The new steamer Fannie Moore, Capt. John Woodburn, en route from Fort Smith to New Orleans with 1,250 bales of cotton and other freight, struck a snag or rock at Saragossa, fity miles below Pine Bluff, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and sunk in eight feet of water. The cargo will be partially saved, but owing to the rise in the river the boat, it is feared, will prove a total loss. The Maumelle left Pine Bluff yesterday morning to go to her assistance. The Fannie Moore was a new boat, built at Madison, indiana, last summer, expressly for the Arkansas River trade. She was valued at $20,000, and was insured in Cincinnati offices for three-fourths of her value. This was her first trip in the river, being water-bound at Fort Smith for more than two months. Capt. Rees Dugan, who is at present in Memphis, will send the T.F. Eckert to the assistance of the sunken steamer, Fannie Moore.

Wharfing receipts for the week ending last night $132 30, the largest amount in one week since the rates were reduced.

A dispatch received here says the owners of the Exchange are building a new boat at Pittsburg for the Cincinnati and Pittsburg trade.
